0→1 product designer. Design, prototype, build. Systems, visual, motion, and enough code to ship. Why have five people do the job of one?

Amazon Jan 2025 – Oct 2026

Product Designer, AI (Amazon Nova)

Designed for Amazon Nova, Amazon's frontier AI chat product. The work was ambiguous by nature: we were using, understanding and pushing what AI was for, ahead of most of the company.

- Shipped code, not just mocks. Designed, built and merged Nova's Model Catalog to mainline on a 70-developer enterprise codebase, through the same code review as every engineer.
- Built RUNE (patent pending), an icon agent that encodes my design judgment as instructions a model can follow. It came out of hand-drawing and shipping 130+ icons for Nova.
- Contributed to the Nova Design System: the icon library, motion specs, navigation and page patterns, and much of the product's look and feel.
- Took ownerless work to launch: inherited Amazon Content Partners and shipped v1 as the sole designer, using my own portfolio site as the test case.
- Nova Builder Studio (showcased at re:Invent): designed a CMS that turned Quip docs into on-system pages, so content published without a design handoff.
- Nova Sonic (audio chat): UI/UX for voice conversation.

Neon Machine / SHRAPNEL 2022 – 2024

Lead Product Designer

Product owner and lead designer of SHRAPNEL's crypto/NFT marketplace for a PC extraction shooter: new tech, no playbook, concept to shipped.

- Owned the marketplace end to end: browsing, search, promotion, buy/sell/auction, payments and accounts.
- Built the SHRAPNEL Design System from zero: UI, type ramp, iconography, and a Figma library shared by game and web.
- Did the work around the design too: product definition docs, data models, QA test scripts and the notification-system spec, so engineering never waited on a handoff.
- Also shaped player profiles, leaderboards, questing, inventory and item recycling.
